

The diagram is a complex geometric layout composed of numerous rectangles of various sizes. The rectangles are labeled with the letters 'M', 'L', and 'XL' in a bold, sans-serif font. The labels are oriented in different directions: some are horizontal, some are vertical, and some are rotated 45 degrees. The layout is dense and intricate, with many small rectangles nested within larger ones. The overall shape is a large rectangle with a complex internal structure. The labels are distributed throughout the diagram, with some appearing in large, prominent rectangles and others in smaller, more numerous ones. The background is white, and the rectangles are outlined in black. The labels are black and have a consistent font size and style throughout the diagram.
