

The diagram illustrates a technical pattern for a vest, showing two identical pieces (left and right) laid out flat. The pattern is divided into several sections, each labeled with a size or type indicator:

- Central Body Section: The main body of the vest is divided into four quadrants. The top-left and bottom-right quadrants are labeled "XL", while the top-right and bottom-left quadrants are labeled "M".
- Collar Section: The collar is divided into two main sections, each labeled "L".
- Waistband Section: The waistband is divided into two main sections, each labeled "L".
- Side Panels: The side panels are divided into two main sections, each labeled "L".
- Other Labels: There are additional labels "XL" and "M" on the side panels, and "L" and "XL" on the waistband.

The diagram uses solid lines to represent the edges of the pattern pieces and dashed lines to indicate fold lines or seam lines. The labels are placed within the corresponding sections to indicate the size or type of the piece.
